DGTrials and RedBull – What better way to stay up for the entire Rolex 24?

Daytona, F.L. – January 26 – DGTrials made an appearance with the (relatively famous) Slide or Die S13 at the RedBull hospitality area for the Rolex 24-hour race this past weekend. For race fans interested in staying up all night, the RedBull hospitality area was definitely a great place to be. Beautiful women, beautiful cars, and beautiful beautiful breakfast (a fond nickname given to RedBull's energy drink by DGTrials staff).

“Being here is a great opportunity for us,” said regional DGTrials president Kyle Campos. “The Rolex 24-hours at Daytona is one of the most famous endurance races in the world – up with the likes of LeMans, Spa, and others. To be here with RedBull in the hospitality area displaying our car is really special.”

If by “special” you mean a good chance to drink RedBull, beer, other cocktails, play videogames, hang out, and have fun then special it is. Special, indeed.
